COUNTERSPY PRESS RELEASE

Approved For Release 2004/10/12 : CIA-RDP88-01314R000100350004-3
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE FEBRUARY 13, 1979

On this the eve of President Carter's visit to Mexico, COUNTERSPY magazine would like to draw attention to the following question and answer of former CIA Director, William E. Colby who executed the mass murder program in Vietnam, Operation Phoenix.

Q. "WHAT DO YOU SEE AS THE GREATEST THREAT TO AMERICA TODAY?"

A. "THE MOST OBVIOUS THREAT IS THE FACT THAT THERE ARE 60 MILLION MEXICANS TODAY, AND THERE ARE GOING TO BE 120 MILLION OF THEM BY THE END OF THE CENTURY. THEY ARE BECOMING INCREASINGLY DISPLEASED AT THE GAP BETWEEN OUR AFFLUENCE AND THEIR PROPERTY. WE CAN RE-INFORCE THE BORDER PATROL, AND THEY DON'T HAVE ENOUGH BULLETS TO STOP THEM ALL, OR WE CAN GET A POSITIVE RELATIONSHIP WITH THESE PEOPLE AND HELP THEM DEVELOP THEIR OWN COUNTRY."

This statement of the colonial, working attitude of the CIA towards the Mexican people has taken on even greater concern given Mexico's oil and the stoppage of Iranian oil to the U. S. A.

For this reason, COUNTERSPY magazine is issuing this press release/synopsis of an up-coming article (March, 1979) on the CIA in Mexico. An equally important reason for this release is the history of CIA crimes and atrocities against another country of concern to U.S. corporations because of its oil, Iran.

The vital information of this article will be the identification of known CIA officers presently operating clandestinely in Mexico; Mexican graduates of CIA police programs; Mexican officials processed through CIA-connected labor programs; and, all CIA officers known to have served in Mexico since the CIA is in the habit of returning officers with prior service during crises.

Evidence that the Mexican people want this information is seen in the publication of the name of Lawrence Melvin Sternfield, CIA Chief of Station/Mexico in the daily, commercial newspaper, El Universal (10/12/78); and the names of CIA officers Robert W. Berg, Richard B. Howard, William Polik, and James Ozzello in the daily, commercial newspaper, Uno Mas Uno (1/26/79. In December, 1978, Uno Mas Uno also published front page stories about Mexican CIA labor and police operatives. In the interests of the Mexican people, COUNTERSPY's up-coming article will expand on these revelations pinpointing their implications for all that is sacred to the Mexican as well as all peoples. COUNTERSPY's up-coming article will also analyze a recently uncovered CIA commissioned study of the nutrition, health, food science, and technology capabilities of Mexico given the CIA's history of using such data to manipulate a country's food system in the exploitative interest of U. S. multinationals.

COUNTERSPY fully believes the American people want a positive and mutually beneficial relationship with the Mexican people. In the interest of promoting this mutually beneficial relationship between the American and Mexican peoples, COUNTERSPY is exposing the CIA, the demonstrated agency of destructive intervention, exploitation, and oppression.
